May 10th Reunion & Degrees

16th	In the Allegory the Sixteenth degree, we are taught, by the example of Zerubbabel, the important lessons of loyalty to conviction, fidelity to duty, devotion to truth, and the important core value of Reverence for God.
32nd	No man can worthily serve in the ranks of the Grand Army of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite unless his heart thrills to the sentiment of a lofty patriotism which will express itself in loyal obedience to his country's laws as well as in response to his country's needs. It is not given to all men to bear arms for the nation's defense, but every man may cherish his country's flag with a devoted love, may support his country's laws with a willing obedience, and may so live day by day that the commonwealth shall be prospered through his industry, established through his fidelity, and honored through his integrity. Such service of country becomes possible only when the individual man, strong in the integrity of his purpose, develops his own highest manhood under the secure shield of civil, intellectual and religious liberty. Man owes it to himself and to his brother men to be his own best self. No obligation imposed upon him by church, state or society can as a last resort destroy the freedom of his spirit or abolish his liberty of private judgment. Patriotism thus founded and secured, gives assurance of peace and happiness within our borders and is a harbinger of that more glorious time when love of country shall be joined to love of humanity and the Scottish Rite Standard shall rise in peaceful triumph over a world-wide brotherhood of man. So mote it be!

May 10th COD and Installations

Join your Scottish Rite brothers and our new candidates for a wonderful day of learning, growing, and celebrating our Scottish Rite. We start the day off with the 16th degree followed by our annual production of the Sublime Prince of the Royal Secret, the 32nd Degree. During the degree, we will be having a special program for the ladies in attendance so please bring your lady to join us for this celebratory event.

After the degree and ladies' program we will be having a lovely lunch followed by our Council of Deliberations and new officer installations. Our new candidates will witness the pageantry of our installations and provide everyone an opportunity to meet and greet and get to know each other.

The day should end around mid-afternoon thus allowing everyone to be home to relax and kick-back after an exciting day filled with fellowship, comradery, pageantry, new beginnings, and of course reinforcing our core values.

We hope you can join us to welcome our new 32nd degree masons and their wives and show them the value of becoming a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason. This is our opportunity to shine and put our best foot forward.

Be Part of our Dramatics Group

One of the growth opportunities fairly unique to the Scottish Rite is the experience of performing on stage to teach our core values: Reverence for God, Integrity, Devotion to Country, Justice, Tolerance, and Service to Humanity. There are various levels through which one can participate. Of course, there is the obvious role of learning a part and performing it on stage. These come in all sizes from a few lines to major roles. There are also those supporting roles which require no lines to memorize, only positioning and interacting on stage. Then there are those behind the scenes roles such as props, lighting, sound, and stage managing. Whichever level might interest you, know that all roles are important and come together at every Reunion to make Scottish Rite Masonry a truly memorable experience.

Contact Bro. Greg Correll and let him know your interest in joining in on the fun. Whether it is a non-speaking part, a few lines, a major roll, or behind the scenes, it is as they say, “there are no minor rolls in theater”. This is one of those “Making Good Men Better opportunities that masonry is all about. Come on out and make new friends.

Dear Scottish Rite Brother

As someone with Scottish ancestry, I take great pride in occasionally wearing the kilt. Around the Jurisdiction, I have learned that I am not alone in this, in fact, I am often asked why the AASR does not have a tartan of its own. Why indeed? Some Grand Lodges have one. The General Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons International AND the General Grand Council of Cryptic Masons International, both YORK Rite organizations, have registered a tartan and make available kilts and accessories. So why don't we?

I have created an online survey/petition to gauge true interest in a Scottish Rite tartan.

If you would like to see an "Official Tartan" for the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, please click on SCOTTISH RITE TARTAN to fill out the petition before May 31, 2025.

The plan is to present the Sovereign Grand Commander with this petition at the New York Council of Deliberation's Annual Convocation on June 6-7, 2025.

From Our Commander in Chief

Brethren,

As another Masonic year comes to a close, we reflect on those moments we have shared together and use the opportunity to remember those moments we can never share again. It is a time of contemplation and introspection about the things in our lives that are truly important.

My personal path over the last few years has given me the immense fortune and opportunity to be able to reflect on my own struggles, the things that I hold dear, the people who matter most, a deeper knowledge of the things I can and cannot control, and an immeasurable understanding of the true meaning of time.

As it is written: "Time was, time is, but no man can say that time shall be. For the Sublime Prince of the Royal Secret, the hour is always NOW."

As I have never been accused of being a poet, perhaps you'll allow me to share the words of Author John Pavlovitz, who articulates this much better than I:

On the day I die a lot will happen. A lot will change. The world will be busy.

On the day I die, all the important appointments I made will be left unattended.

The many plans I had yet to complete will remain forever undone.

The calendar that ruled so many of my days will now be irrelevant to me.

All the material things I so chased and guarded and treasured will be left in the hands of others to care for or to discard as they wish. The words of my critics which so burdened me will cease to sting or capture anymore. They will be unable to touch me.

The arguments I believed I'd won here will not serve me or bring me any satisfaction or solace. My great urgency to be "correct" will be quieted.

My many nagging regrets will all be resigned to the past, where they should have always been anyway.

Every superficial worry about my body that I ever labored over; about my waistline or hairline or frown lines, will fade away. My carefully crafted image, the one I worked so hard to shape for others here, will be left to them to complete anyway. The reputation I once struggled so greatly to maintain will be of little concern for me anymore.

All the small and large anxieties that stole sleep from me each night will be rendered powerless.

The deep and towering mysteries about life and death that so consumed my mind will finally be clarified in a way that they could never be before while I lived.

These things will certainly all be true on the day that I die.

Yet for as much as will happen on that day, one more thing that will happen.

On the day I die, the few people who really know and truly love me will grieve deeply.

They will feel a void. They will feel cheated. They will not feel ready.

They will feel as though a part of them has died as well.

And on that day, more than anything in the world, they will want more time with me.

I know this from those I have loved and grieved over.

And so, knowing this, while I am still alive, I'll try to remember that my time with them is finite and fleeting and so very precious—and I'll do my best not to waste a second of it.

I'll try not to squander a priceless moment worrying about all the little things because most of those things are either not my concern or beyond my control.

Friends, those other things have an insidious way of keeping you from living even as you live; vying for your attention, competing for your affections. They rob you of the joy of this unrepeatable, uncontainable, ever-evaporating NOW with those who love you and want only to share it with you.

Don't miss the chance to dance with them while you can.

It's easy to waste so much daylight in the days before you die.

Don't let your life be stolen every day by all that you believe matters, because on the day you die, much of it simply won't.

Yes, you and I will die one day. But before that day comes: let us live.

Or, if you prefer a simpler version, consider these words instead:

Don't worry.

About a thing.

Cause every little thing gonna be alright.

-Bob Marley

I wish every one of you much luck, love, and laughter as we call off from labor for the summer and for the ensuing Masonic years ahead.

Sincerely and Fraternally,

Bro. Gregory Correll 32 M.S.A.

Remembering the Battle of Bunker Hill

On view March 19-October 3, 2025

This year marks the 250th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill and the 200th anniversary of the laying of the Bunker Hill Monument's cornerstone.

The Battle

The Battle of Bunker Hill took place on June 17, 1775. Most of the action took place on nearby Breed's Hill. The battle was fought to solidify which side had control over Boston Harbor. The hills in and around Boston were tactically important to both British and colonial forces. The American's newly formed Continental Army sought to limit the supplies that the British army could bring into Boston via the harbor. The two sides clashed on June 17, each seeking to control Bunker Hill and Breed's Hill. By the end of the day the British had won the fight, at the cost of 226 dead and 828 wounded. On the opposing side, 140 American combatants had been killed; over 300 suffered injuries.

Dr. Joseph Warren

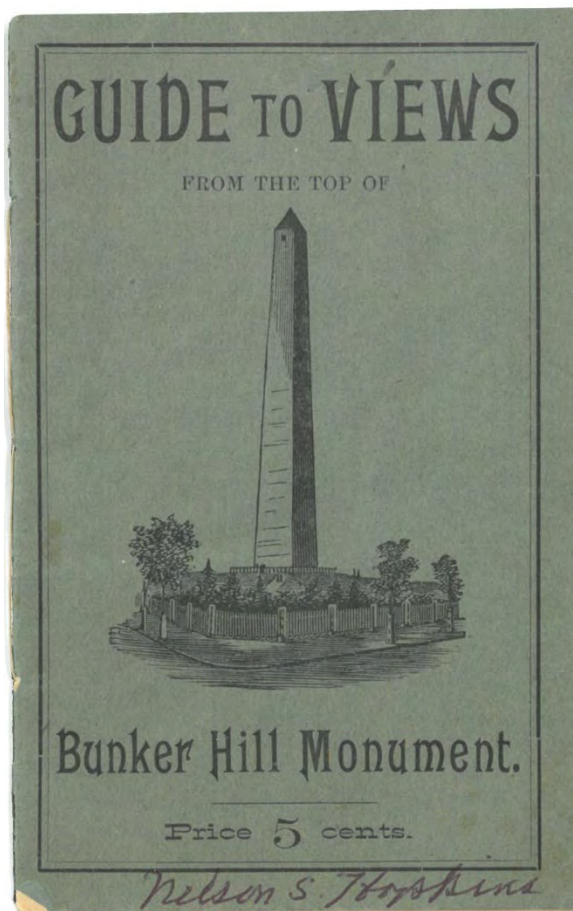

Despite their heavy losses, the British drove the Americans from the contested area. Among the Americans killed was President of the Massachusetts Provincial Congress, Dr. Joseph Warren. Rather than serving as an officer, Warren famously fought as a regular volunteer. At the time of his death, Warren was a Masonic leader and served as the Grand Master of Massachusetts Provincial Grand Lodge.

The Monuments

To memorialize Joseph Warren, members of King Solomon's Lodge in Charlestown erected an eighteen-foot-tall wooden monument in 1794. Subject to weather and vandalism, this monument soon fell into disrepair. In 1824, the newly formed Bunker Hill Monument Association purchased fifteen acres of the battlefield, with an eye toward constructing a permanent monument. After eighteen years of fundraising and construction, the Association dedicated the Bunker Hill Monument, an obelisk standing 221 feet high. At the time of its completion, it was the tallest structure in the United States.

From the start, the monument was a meaningful memorial site visited by many. People from all over the world continue to visit it, some to enjoy the commanding view of the surrounding area; many to recall the sacrifice of the soldiers who fought the Battle of Bunker Hill.

This pocket-size booklet was intended for tourists visiting the monument. While still a memorial to the battle, the Bunker Hill Monument also functioned, as it does today, as a tourist attraction, affording those who climb its 294 steps expansive views of Boston, Charlestown, Cambridge, Malden, Chelsea, and Lynn.

Guide to Views from the Top of Bunker Hill Monument, 1892. Gift of Nelson M. Hopkins, F62.3 .B9 1892.

Masons representing Grand Lodges and other Masonic organizations throughout New England and beyond gathered on June 24, 1845, for the dedication of a scale model of the original 26-foot tall 1794 monument. Freemason Thomas Power – a musician, music critic, and one of the earliest members of the Handel and Haydn Society – wrote this ode, which was sung as part of the ceremony. An illustration of the original monument adorns the cover of this sheet music.
